The start screen will have a workspace available so that the user can code without having to navigate to a certain file. The console output window is on the right of the workspace.

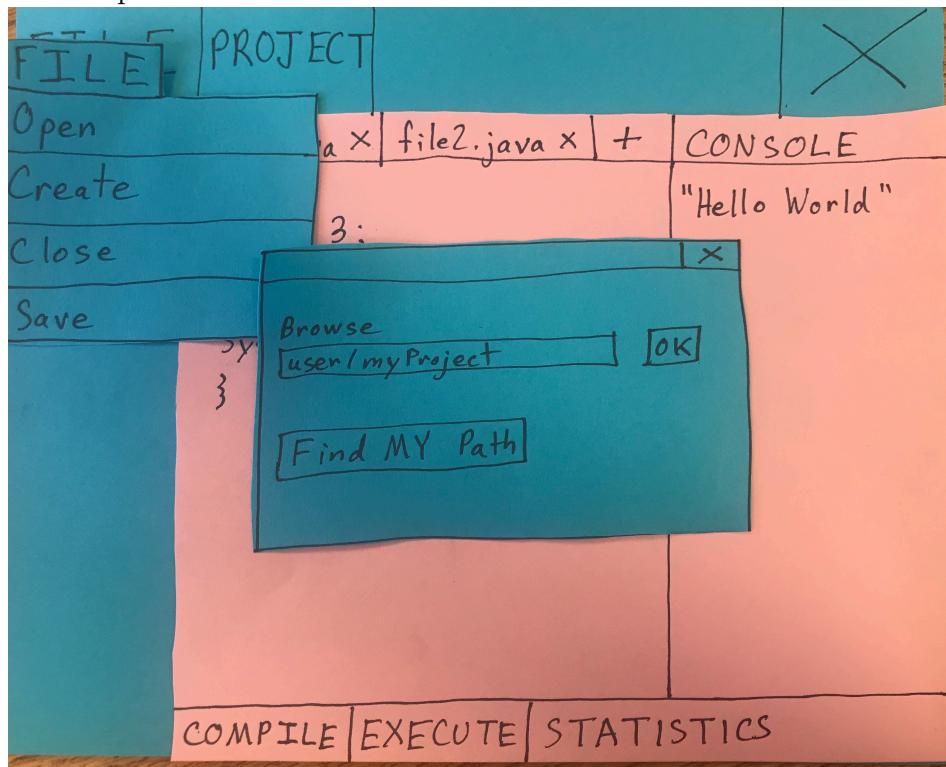

If the user wishes to save the file then they can click File and then Save.

If the user tries to close the program before saving the program will prompt the user to save their changes.

To open a file the user can select it from the toolbar.

To delete a file from the project you can navigate to the project toolbar.
